WHO Global Network of Age-friendly Cities and Communities (GNAFCC)

Dear Mayor Ana Botella Serrano,

I am very pleased to welcome Madrid as a European member of the WHO Global Network of Age-friendly Cities and Communities (GNAFCC). As a member, Madrid will be part of a growing movement of cities and communities that agree on the values and principles of age-friendly cities according to the "Age-friendly cities: a global guide" and on the WHO Strategy and action plan for healthy aging in Europe, 2012-2020, in line with Health 2020, the WHO Europe overarching health policy framework for health and wellbeing in Europe. Moreover, cities in the network are committed to sharing information and exchange experiences of their effort to better meet the needs of their older residents.

I look forward to your active participation in the Network.

Please find enclosed the terms of reference for membership in the Global Network of Age-friendly Cities and Communities. We will soon contact you with the access details for the Network's information sharing platform AgeFriendlyWorld.

Yours sincerely,

Manfred Huber,
Coordinator, Healthy Ageing,
Disability and Long-term Care
